DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER 1864

MAYSVILLE, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1918.

8TH REGIMENT MAY PASS THROUGH MAYSVILLE

The Chamber of Commerce received a communication yesterday afternoon from the Louisville Auto Club stating that within a short time the 8th Division is to be transferred from Camp Taylor to Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, and there will be many officers and men make the trip by motor cars.

They ask information as to conditions of roads and best possible routes from Maysville to Chillicothe and it is likely that they will pass through this city en route to Chillicothe.

SPECIAL PRAYER MEETING
Special conference in the Christian Church tonight from 7:30 to 8:30. All those interested in the Bible School or the teaching service of the church should be present. The officers and teachers and those from Mr. Kaekley's and Mr. Stahl's classes and other members are expected to be in this meeting.

IT'S BANKER INSTEAD OF HUDDY
Mr. Andrew M. Janury has been chosen Teller at the State National Bank, to take the position made vacant by the resignation of Mr. J. H. Clark, Jr.

Had the directors of this popular bank searched the country over there could not have been found a man that was more fitted for this responsible position. "Huddy" is one of the most popular young men in this section, and a more deserving person does not richly deserve.

WILL BE CARDED

Index of All Able-Bodied Men of Maysville to be Kept by Local Authorities.

On June 20th the gavel will fall and all who do not have employment keeping them busy for at least thirty-six hours a week the local court will find such employment for them, as heating will not be tolerated in Maysville.

The new State anti-loafing law provides that every able bodied man between the ages of 16 and 60 must do a certain amount of work six days in every week. The penalty for failure to keep that law is (a fine of) $100 and (a jail sentence of) fifty days.

A census of all male persons in the city and county between the ages of 16 and 60 is being taken. A card index system will be made from this and the names of all persons catalogued therein. On June 19 the list will be carefully gone over as the character of every one's occupation is ascertained he will be checked off the list. And the loafers will be rounded up by the officials.

Where there is a refusal on the part of a loafer to go to work instead of the $100 fine and its accompanying fifty days jail sentence, judgment will probably be suspended and the loafer made to work in accordance with the designs of the law. A strict record of this action will be kept regularly.

Miss Anna Hall of East Second street is visiting in Millersburg this week.

RAZED CHICKENS

In Attempt to Raise Potatoes an East End Lady Made a Big Demolition

It isn't every one that can be a successful farmer and poultry raiser at the same time.

And what will kill potato bugs, will kill chickens, as a lady of the Sixth Ward knows too well now.

The lady in question had a splendid war garden, her potato crop being especially a good one, and the potato bugs weren't long in finding that out, either.

One morning she went out to view her luxuriant potato patch and it was literally covered with bugs, and she determined to get rid of them before they got rid of her potato crop, so she procured the necessary poison and sprayed her vines well.

The next day, finding the ground strewn with the remains of the dead bugs, the thought struck her that the chickens would like to eat them, and she turned in her choice hens, and they got busy on the poisoned bugs, and it wasn't long until the poisoned bugs got busy, with the result that thirty of the egg-producers went the way of the potato bugs.

Too bad that old Mr. Experience is such an expensive teacher, but he is, and a good one, too.

Mrs. Carrie Russell and daughter, Miss Alexine, returned home last night after spending a few weeks at Martinsville, Ind.

SUBMARINE FLEET STILL NEAR U. S. COAST LINE

TRANS-ATLANTIC SHIP IS SAVED
FROM SINKING BY AN AMERICAN DESTROYER

Enemy Submarines Continue Harass in North Atlantic Coast Waters—U-Boats Still Lurk Near American Shores—Reported Submarine Fleet Will Return—August.

Washington, June 4—Enemy submarines still were operating off the American coast today. A French tank steamer, the Radioline, first Trans-Atlantic steamer to be attacked by the raiders, was saved from destruction at 9:30 o'clock this morning, by an American destroyer, 65 miles off the Maryland coast.

This same destroyer found the coasting schooner Edward R. Baird, Jr., sinking after having been bombed in the same vicinity, making seven schooners and four steamers to have been sunk by the raiders.

Announcement by the Navy Department of these facts late tonight disclosed that the raid in American waters had not ended with yesterday's toll of destruction, upsetting the theory that the raiders probably were spending homeward. Coast patrol vessels had not acted on the theory. They now are closing in from all directions on the scene of the raiders' last exploit, scouring the sea for further trace of enemy U-boats as they come.

U-Boat Fleet May Return This August

New York, June 4—A member of the crew of the U-151, the German submarine which destroyed the schooner Edna, told Enoch Roker, one of the Edna's crew, Roker said here today that the U-boat fleet plans to remain in American waters until August. Roker, for eight days a prisoner on the submarine, was rescued after he and other prisoners had been placed in the open boats of another sunken ship and arrived here last night.

"The storekeeper told me that since they had left Kiel two months ago after a big celebration before the submarine fleet left," Roker said today, "they were provisioned for a six months' cruise and he said they intended to stay on the western Atlantic coast until August at least. He didn't tell me how many submarines there were in the fleet, as the officers on board kept vigilant eyes and ears."

Toll of Submarine Raiders Reaches 55
Dead and Missing

New York, June 4—The toll of dead and missing from the raid of German submarines against shipping off the American coast apparently stood tonight at 58, all from the steamship Carolina, of the New York and Porto Rico line. Sixteen of this number are known to have perished when one of the ship's boats capsized in a storm Sunday night after the vessel had been sunk. The fate of the others is not known but it is hoped they have been picked up by a passing vessel and will yet reach shore safely.

Officials of the company have placed the number of passengers abroad the Carolina when she was attacked 125 miles off Sandy Hook at 220 and the crew at 130 making 350 in all.

STAND FOR FUNDAMENTAL AMERICANISM

There is an old adage to the effect that while dogs have fleas, the fleas have other fleas to bite 'em.

This is illustrated one in the recent history of Russia. Socialists under Kerensky took control of the Russian government. But there were other and more extreme socialists who were not satisfied with the government set up by radicals, who, once in power, were compelled by circumstances to exercise some degree of moderation.

It was the theory of Kerensky that the way to satisfy the radical reds was to give them plenty of rope. He permitted street demonstrations against his government, on the theory that "a democracy can afford revolutions." Russia got another one; whether the people could afford it or not is another question.

And now the bolsheviks, who were supposed to represent about the last word in wild eyed radicalism, have been assailed by revolutionaries still more radical. If these new revolutionaries, the anarchists, should manage to get into power, they in turn would breed another school of revolution which would invent some theory even more contrary to common sense.

The way to deal with unreasoning radicalism, based not upon any real desire to serve the public welfare, but representing only academic sophistry or class greed, is not to compromise with it, but to fight it. As against the demagogues and the doctrinaires, the same earnest, thinking people of the world need a baptism of courage.

There is an old story about a party of Russians, in a sled, being pursued by wolves. One of the passengers fell out of the wagon, and the wolves halted long enough to make a meal of him. This suggested an idea to the occupants of the sled, so when the wolves once more gained upon them, they seized the weakest man in the crowd, and threw him overboard. They kept this up until only one man remained, and he, along with the horses, served as dessert at the banquet.

This typifies the treatment of economic error by many political leaders, themselves right in their views upon fundamentals, but willing at all times to sacrifice smaller things for larger. Finally, like the Kerensky government, and the bolshevik government, they find that the spirit to which they truckle grows on what it feeds on. It is time to begin meeting, and erase dodging, a few fundamental questions; the question, for instance, of whether this republic is a "pure" democracy, like Russia under the bolsheviks, or a republic, as Washington and Lincoln supposed it to be. We are learning from the Russian experience that a leadership which leads, rather than merely panders, is necessary to the safety of the state and of the people.

"PUNCH, CONDUCTOR, PUNCH WITH CARE"

The $938,000,000 which Director General McAdoo has allowed the railroads for rehabilitation is found to be none too much in the view of experts—who recall that James J. Hill, more than ten years ago, laid down the proposition that the railroads of the country require $1,100,000,000 a year for improvements and extensions. What would cost that sum then would surely cost practically twice as much now in these days of enhanced prices; and while the money authorized by Mr. McAdoo sounds like a large sum it is not so much, after all. Another interesting question is: How will this money be accounted for? That is, will it go into capital account? If so, it means that the interest upon it must be provided by enlarged revenues—which again brings up the question of an increase in the rates of fares and freights. That the public must pay more and still more for its transportation seems inevitable.

WOMEN NUT WARRIORS

(New York World)
Mme. Hotchkiss, commander of Russia's far-famed "Battalion of Death," takes a pessimistic view of the warlike attributes of her sex. "Women will never make soldiers," she says. "They are too undisciplined. They cannot be organized. And they show the white feather."

Women not good soldiers? Are the deeds of the Amazons merely legendary? Were those inter-day Amazons of Brazil, whose brave resistance of the Spanish conqueror gave its name to the great river, mythical also? At least men will continue to believe in the capacity of individual women, a Bradlee, a Joan of Arc or a Molly Pitcher, for martial glory.

If there were no soldierly qualities in the Russian women's battalion, it will that the world heard and saw in picture supplements and believed of the courageous patriotism of these resolute women, banded together to save their country from Prussianism, was fabulous, then indeed has masculine credulity been imposed upon and the question of a suffrage based on fighting as well as voting remains where it was.

Unflattering as it is, the Russian woman commander's disengagement of her sex as unsuited to military is no doubt true. Yet women have no occasion to feel ashamed on that account. Their record of war service is glorious enough. Fighting is not their mission and no man desires it to be. But in all the remedial work of war and in whole-hearted devotion to the cause for which their sons and brothers and husbands are fighting they have shown in heroism and self-sacrifice unmatched in the history of warfare.

FOR WOMEN WHO WORRY
Worry and "the blues" are usually linked together, and in many cases are due to some functional derangement which if not corrected may lead to more serious ailments. More outdoor life, sleep, water-drinking and a few weeks' treatment with that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, will revitalise and strengthen the system and work wonders for any woman. If you are prone to worry and "the blues" try it.

If the statistics were available probably it would be found that 97 per cent. of the women who marry for a home are never satisfied with the furniture.

As a general thing the kind of man who likes to play the accompaniments when his wife sings is eccentric in other respects also.

Probably the best way for a bride to guess when the honeymoon is over is to notice when he begins occupying the entire chair by himself.

The effect of the increased income from the mountains farms has brought about a higher standard of living. Farmhouses have been remodeled; roads improved; better farm equipment introduced, and more interest has been taken in educational work of all kinds. Though some high-grade cows have been purchased and brought into the section, the greatest progress in dairy improvement is shown by the better care and more skillful feeding of the cows already at hand. The introduction of cheese factories, the publication says, is only the first step forward, but they furnish the financial support for the movement which is slowly, but certainly, bringing prosperity to these southern mountain districts.

With all the help that can be given, however, the burden is going to bear heavily. There is no royal road to victory. Victory is to be won only by taking infinite pains, by enduring endless inconveniences and worse, by making sacrifice upon sacrifice, by using every expedient that may avail to further our cause. We farmers to whom it is not given to serve on the firing line must realize that we are not merely farming now but that we are, in fact, fighting the Hun in our own soil but not inglorious way. It is our business to put patriotism and glory into our work. It is our business to use our heads and raise bigger crops than we used to raise with fewer hands than we used to work. It is our business to farm as though our lives depended upon it—as do, indeed, the lives of thousands of people overseas. It is our business to farm as our soldiers fight—efficiently. A year ago, the President said: "Your patriotism is of the same self-denying stuff as the patriotism of the men dead or maimed on the fields of France, or else it is no patriotism.

That is the touchstone by which we may test the spirit of our work. "It takes twelve civilians, working with might and main, behind every soldier to give that soldier his maximum of safety, comfort and fighting efficiency. The man who doesn't back up some American soldier during this war, to the full extent of his ability, is unworthy to live under our flag and will be unfit to meet his God when he dies.

The American farmer is going to do every ounce that is in him to back up the soldiers at the front. I suspect that he will do his usual amount of grubbing. He always has grubbed. But I know him well enough to be sure that he will not balk. And I know that the government at Washington is ready to strike the safety of the Republic on the loyal, ceaseless, undying devotion of the farmers of America."

A FARMER TALKS TO FARMERS

(New York World)

Charlotte, N. C., June 4—Carl Vrooman, the Illinois farmer who holds the office of Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, is in Charlotte as the principal speaker of the day before the Association of Southern Commercial Secretaries in annual session here. In addition to his speech to the commercial club secretaries, he addressed a meeting of Eastern North Carolina farmers who availed themselves of his presence to hold a big meeting in Charlotte. In the course of his address, Mr. Vrooman said:

"Any American farmer who does not put his whole heart and back into the part cut out for him in this war is a slacker. If you are not willing to do difficult things and even to attempt what now seems impossible, then stop farming and rent or sell your farm to a more patient, a more intelligent and a more patriotic citizen and go over into the trenches and see if you like the game there any better."

"I know the farmer's task is not an easy one. Moreover, I know that up to this time he has made the sacrifices required of him willingly and heroically. The agricultural army was the first American army mobilized—it was under arms and moving into battle the day after war was declared. And that army won the first American victory in the stupendous food crops that were harvested last fall.

"But, in common with everybody else, the farmer finds his war-time task growing constantly harder. The severest strain is likely to come just before the final triumph, and farmers must brace themselves for that strain.

"I know something of how difficult the task is. I know, because I have tried it, that it isn't easy for the farmer to take untrained boys from city high schools and teach them how to do farm work. Of course, it is a hard and unpleasant job, but it is your job and mine. Assuredly we are going to have trouble about seed; we are going to have trouble about fertilizers; we are going to have trouble about farm implements; we are going to have trouble about capital. Of course, we are going to have trouble. Troubles and war are synonymous—and this is war. Moreover, it is the biggest war anybody ever saw. If you have an idea that the war can be fought and won without everybody doing his due share of the fighting, it is still reserved for you to taste the brimstone of the hell of war, and you will finally have to breathe it deeper because you weren't willing to breathe it early.

"This is a time when everybody must stand ready to make allowances, to suffer inconveniences, to put up with things that would be intolerable in time of peace. But to not overlook the fact that the government is doing everything it can to help the farmer through his difficulties. The Department of Agriculture and the Department of Labor are cooperating with him in solving the labor problem. The United States Department of Agriculture, the agricultural colleges, and the state departments of agriculture are helping him with his fertilizer problem, his seed problem, his implement problem, his food problem, his financial difficulties. And the Federal Farm Loan Board is helping out of his financial difficulties.

"With all the help that can be given, however, the burden is going to bear heavily. There is no royal road to victory. Victory is to be won only by taking infinite pains, by enduring endless inconveniences and worse, by making sacrifice upon sacrifice, by using every expedient that may avail to further our cause. LICENSING BUYERS

Of Poultry and Eggs—To County Food
Administrators and Poultry and Egg Shippers.

The U. S. Food Administration considers poultry and eggs such important foods that effective June 1, 1918, it will require all persons, storekeepers, dealers, etc., not now under license who buy and sell eggs and poultry to take out a license under the U. S. Food Administration law. This does not refer to farmers or consumers, nor to retailers unless they sell to others than consumers.

Application should be made immediately to the Licensee Division, Law Department, U. S. Food Administration, Washington, D. C., asking for a license to buy and sell poultry and eggs.

Pending receipt of license all those mentioned above shall be subject to the rules and regulations the same as if license has been received.

Regulations Governing the Purchase of Eggs in Kentucky

(b) A statement shall be given each customer from whom eggs are purchased showing the number of good, damaged and bad eggs in each lot.

(c) A copy of each statement shall be kept for the duration of each candling season and be subject to examination by the U. S. Government, State, County and Municipal Food Inspector.

(f) Eggs shall be kept during hot weather in cool a place as possible away from dust and flies, and marketed frequently.

IRVIN S. COBB

With the Colt-Alber Chautauqua Will Delight Maysville People—He Will Tell of His Experiences In the Fluids.

To intimate that any American doesn't know Irvin S. Cobb and hasn't delved and chucked over his Judge Priest stories his intimate essays on the human anatomy and his never-to-be-forgotten "speaking of operations" is to reflect upon that American's patriotism. For "Old Irvin Cobb" he is affectionately known down New York way, is a national institution like pumpkin pie, Fourth of July and baseball. Now the Chautauqua is to perform a real service to folks in this community by permitting everybody to hear Mr. Cobb in person, with the biggest subject he has ever written or talked about, "My Recent Experience on the Fighting Front in France and Flanders."

Mr. Cobb is coming to the Chautauqua fresh from a trip to the western front, where he has been reporting the latest developments of the war for the Saturday Evening Post. It will be recalled that his articles on the events in Belgium, following the outbreak of hostilities evoked the widest interest of any articles written at that time and established him as the greatest war reporter of the present day.

It is significant that while only a year has elapsed nearly all young men who are single and without dependents who registered at that time have gone to war or will have gone another month passes.

The work of registering all of the young men will take place in the local Draft Board office in the Postoffice Building.

The regulations are very strict. Those who fail to comply with the law will be subject to one year's imprisonment, and those who are sick must send a representative to the registrars and notify them of the fact. They will send a registrar to him.

It is estimated that the registration today will be about 10 per cent. of the number registered last June, which would be about 140.

The authorities request anyone knowing of a young man who is purposefully attempting to evade the law to notify them. The young man will be compelled to register at once and this save himself from further punishment. However, if he does not register today, he will not only be compelled to register but will also be sent to the nearest army barracks where he will be disciplined.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to find a cure for and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts on the blood in the Mucus Surface of the system, which is destroying the foundation of the disease, gives the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of their Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. See Dr. J. CHENY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
